

STREETCARS

Newspaper Articles

- Evening Independent*, "The Streetcar . . ." by Bethia Caffery, November 21, 1975
- St. Petersburg Times*, "'Old 34': Streetcar of Dreams," by Mary A. Roberts, undated (before 1970)
- St. Petersburg Times*, "There was a Streetcar Named Gulfport," by Mrs. H.C. Robins, undated
- St. Petersburg Times*, second half of article "—Pinellas", November 5, 1989
- St. Petersburg Times*, photo caption, "Working on the Railroad," undated, in 1942 scrapbook
- "Passing of an Era: Old 100 in Final Run," by Jim Dustin, May 7, 1949, photocopy
- "It Seems Like Yesterday: Changing of the guard on the old streetcar," by H.E. Field, undated
- "It Seems Like Yesterday" by W.H. Scott, undated, photocopy
- "Trolley's Last Ride," undated
- Gulfport Gabber*, "Old Gulfport," by Roger Turner, September 14, 2000
- "The Trolley in 1908," cartoon by W.L. Straub, originally published in the St. Petersburg Times, March 28, 1903, photocopy
- "The Evolution of the Trolley," general history by Dave Cremins, off the internet, 2000
- Invitation to the inauguration of the PSTA Beach Trolley, December 17, 200?

Map, St. Petersburg Municipal Transit System, November 1, 1945; Bus Routes 1-17 and Street Car Lines on reverse

Original Material

- "Accidents," typewritten, author unknown
- "The Veteran City Era, 1900-1910," by Willard Simonds, 1984, typewritten
- "Answers to questions about the trolley system published in the Historian of June, 1984," by Willard Simonds, typewritten

Photos

Streetcars and Tracks, 1907-1949

Clearing land next to tracks

Track running south toward waterfront

Colored People's dance pavilion, located on Beach Boulevard at about 29th Avenue

First Depot, at about 28th Avenue

Early Trolleys

Later Trolleys

Passing spread in Clymer Park

